For the attention of Parline
Correspondents
cc. National IPU Groups

Geneva, 12 March 2021

Dear Parline Correspondents,

As I mentioned in my previous letter, we are pleased to invite you to the first webinar for Parline Correspondents on Tuesday, 6 April 2021. Please find enclosed the agenda for this event.

The webinar will include a brief overview of the Parline database and a discussion of your role as Parline Correspondents. There will be an opportunity to share experiences with your peers and to ask questions to the IPU team that manages Parline.

In order to facilitate participation from all regions, three one-hour sessions will be held on the same day. Participants should choose one session in which they will take part:

- 08:00 – 09:00 (Geneva, CEST): English only
- 14:00 – 15:00 (CEST): Interpretation in English, French and Arabic
- 16:00 – 17:00 (CEST): Interpretation in English and Spanish

The webinar is primarily for Parline Correspondents but other parliamentary staff are also welcome to join. Please register online by 31 March 2021. For more information about the webinar, please contact Ms. Hiroko Yamaguchi (hy@ipu.org). We look forward to engaging with you.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Parline Correspondents who have already completed the questionnaire on the annual activities of parliament in 2020 and call on other Correspondents to do the same at their earliest opportunity.

The role of Parline Correspondents is described at <https://data.ipu.org/content/parliaments>. Parliaments that have not yet designated a Parline Correspondent can contact Ms. Addie Erwin at parline@ipu.org for further information.

With thanks in advance for your continued support,

Andy Richardson
Programme Manager, Parliamentary Standards and Knowledge
