Introduction

The Inter-Parliamentary Union (IPU) stands for better parliaments and stronger democracies. As the world organization of parliaments, it enables parliamentary debate, dialogue, cooperation and action at an international level and also delivers programmes, technical assistance and conducts research. Its annual budget provides the means to pursue these objectives.

The 2014 consolidated budget is a financial translation of the plan to implement the IPU’s Strategy for 2012-2017. The plan for 2014 is set out in the Annex as a summarized logframe, derived directly from the objectives of the Strategy. The budget anticipates gross operating expenditure for the year of CHF 13.7 million. The majority of the budget is funded by the contributions of Members, which will remain at the same total level as in both 2013 and 2012. Voluntary income from a range of external donors to carry out programme activities will supplement the core income by an expected CHF 1.5 million.

The budget document also presents the relative positions of men and women in the IPU Secretariat and the resources allocated to gender issues and activities. Gender-specific allocations from regular funds represent 6 per cent of the regular budget. The combined budget for all gender-specific activities stands at CHF 1 million.

Despite increasing budgetary pressures, the IPU remains committed to curbing climate change by monitoring and publishing its greenhouse gas emissions and setting aside funds to offset its carbon footprint.
Secretary General’s Summary

The proposed programme and budget for 2014 allows the IPU to continue to implement its Strategy for 2012-2017, albeit with ever tighter margins and some inevitable compromises. The Governing Council has decided that the IPU must once again maintain zero growth in assessed contributions in 2014, apart from any new Members joining. The Sub-Committee on Finance has been involved throughout the budget preparation process and has held three meetings specifically dedicated to providing direction and oversight.

The UN scale of contributions has changed this year based on a re-assessment of each nation’s capacity to pay and, accordingly, the IPU scale has automatically adjusted to align with it without changing the total amount of contributions. As in recent years, this means absorbing annual inflationary increases and finding cost savings from our structure and activities, while also seeking other ways to increase core income.

The two statutory Assemblies will continue to be held, along with the meetings of the Governing Council, the Executive Committee (three times a year) and other statutory bodies and committees. The full range of IPU programme objectives will be pursued, although with some reductions or rescheduling necessary in certain programme areas for 2014. Cost savings have been found within the expenditures on staff, travel, insurance and office running costs.

Requirements from the Governing Council for additional activities and initiatives have nonetheless been incorporated into a core expenditure budget that continues to shrink in real terms. The 2014 budget includes a provision of CHF 50,000 to begin implementing the process of strengthening the four Standing Committees. Secretariat staff resources will also be readjusted in order to better service the Standing Committees. The Preparatory Committee for the Speakers’ Conference in 2015 will be convened at a cost of CHF 27,000. The allocation of core funds to the Committee on Middle East Questions will be increased by CHF 20,000 to reflect the substantial additional work it is now undertaking. Additional external funding will also be mobilized to further support the work of this Committee.

Implementation of the communications strategy will continue to heighten the Organization’s visibility and will assist in promoting fund-raising activities to attract additional voluntary funding from donors. During 2014, the investment in the newly developed website will be completed and capitalized in the IPU’s accounts. Once completed, funds will need to be allocated each year to maintain and update the content of the website to keep it dynamic and relevant.

Improving the functioning and effectiveness of the IPU will also require proper implementation of the Gender Mainstreaming Policy, following its adoption in 2013. The policy will be implemented throughout the Organization in 2014 and beyond. This will involve the development of a plan of action with concrete objectives and targets, training of staff and developing mechanisms and tools to ensure that a gender perspective is central to all activities.

For voluntary funding, 2014 will be an important transitional year. The latest three-year commitment from the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida) to the IPU comes to an end in June 2014 and, despite promising indications, it is too early at this stage to guarantee an extension of funding into the period beyond. This grant has provided valuable unearmarked funds to the IPU that has allowed flexibility to allocate to those areas of the Strategy where external support has been most needed. Potential future funding to the Gender Partnership Programme from Irish Aid and USAID among others will also be subject to discussion, following review processes at the end of their last grants. Other donors are being approached, though the outcome of those approaches will in most cases not be known until after the 2014 budget has been approved. It is reasonable to expect that voluntary funding will pick up during 2014, but for the purposes of budget preparation we have included only those resources already committed or with a reasonable likelihood of materializing. In any event, no funds will be spent or committed until donations are formally confirmed. If we are successful in mobilizing more funds for more activities, the Secretariat will of course be responsive in deploying the additional resources needed to implement them.

The Working Capital Fund (WCF) has increased by CHF 1.9 million since the beginning of 2011, due principally to surpluses achieved through staffing and other operating cost savings and to increased asset values arising from compliance with International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS). Although the increases in the WCF will not be offset against the regular expenditure budget as in the past, a specific case needs to be made in relation to the increased depreciation charges that arise from the increases in IPU assets:

1) In 2012, IPSAS compliance increased the asset value of the Headquarters building, which in turn directly increased the WCF. Simultaneously, the very same increase in building value has raised the depreciation charge, which must be serviced through the annual budget. In normal times of modest annual growth in the income budget, it would be possible to make allowance for this. In times of shrinking budgets in real terms each year, the increased depreciation charge can only be met by a further reduction in activities. This clearly runs counter to the interests of the Organization, and is an unintended consequence of moving towards greater accountability. As an alternative, it is proposed during this period of contributions freeze that the incremental annual depreciation charge for 2014 on the building (CHF 60,000) be authorized to be covered using the WCF.

2) The capital expenditure on the website is a necessary undertaking for the IPU, as set out in the Strategy for 2012-2017 and subsequently supported by the Governing Council. The capital cost will be fully depreciated over four years. Despite the pressure on the operating budget, investment in this vital aspect of the IPU’s visibility has to be maintained; yet the depreciation charge represents a substantial reduction of available budget. For this reason, the IPU should be willing to invest some of its accumulated reserve growth into servicing the depreciation cost of the website development. It is proposed that the budgeted annual depreciation charge on the website (estimated at CHF 110,000 for 2014) be authorized to be covered by the WCF.

As in previous years, these offsets will only be used if needed at the end of the budget period. The Secretariat has in the past received Governing Council approval to use the WCF against the general budget. During the past two years, its use has been authorized but not required due to other operational savings that were achieved. The same conditions would apply to these much more specific cases in 2014.

With the continuing pressure to reduce expenditure, balancing the budget has become increasingly difficult year on year. The Secretariat continues to exert every effort to drive down its costs and to prioritize and streamline activities. Efforts will continue to be made to supplement membership support with voluntary income insofar as this does not threaten the independence of the IPU and its ability to pursue its own clear and unique set of objectives.
the United States and Japan are still causes for concern despite important policy advances. Meanwhile, problems in the region persist. The deficits and debts of income and expenditure budgets.

1 Olivier Blanchard, IMF Chief Economist, April 2013.

Medium-Term Outlook

As economic crisis and recovery begin to affect different regions unevenly, the medium-term outlook is both cautiously optimistic globally and more unpredictable at the national and regional levels. Although the worst of the Eurozone crisis was averted last year, problems in the region persist. The deficits and debts of the United States and Japan are still causes for concern despite important policy advances. Meanwhile, emerging markets and developing nations in general have experienced strong growth that will start to flatten off. China’s GDP is projected by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD) to exceed that of the United States by 2017. Nonetheless, doubts will remain during the coming period of irregular recovery at a time when “the world economy is as weak as its weakest link”.

In Switzerland, the Swiss National Bank has maintained its currency discipline and CHF 1.20 exchange rate floor against the euro. The Swiss franc has been trading at about 1.24 during 2013 and some analysts see it returning to a value closer to 1.30 in the medium term, which would reduce the cost of some Members’ contributions to the IPU. Despite some risks in the banking sector, Switzerland has retained its AAA rating and a trade surplus throughout the period since 2008.

* Increases in the Working Capital Fund at the year-end have been utilized to offset depreciation increases in order to balance the income and expenditure budgets.

* Increases in the Working Capital Fund at the year-end have been utilized to offset depreciation increases in order to balance the income and expenditure budgets.
Parliamentary budgets in many of the more mature economies have been placed under pressure by public sector spending reviews. For as long as the assessed contributions from existing Members are not permitted to increase, the only additional income through assessed contributions will come from new Members joining the Organization. It is conservatively estimated that this will bring an additional CHF 50,000 in 2015 and 2016.

Voluntary contributions are more difficult than usual to predict for 2014, as several contracts are concluding and follow-up discussions are yet to be held between the IPU and a number of its current and former donors. Nevertheless, indications are positive that voluntary contributions may in fact be higher than budgeted. A 15 per cent annual growth in voluntary contributions is projected above the realistic estimate budgeted for 2014. Revenue from interest and investments is expected to rise from 2014 as interest rates gradually move towards higher levels as the global economy picks up.

Environmental Impact

As part of the IPU’s commitment to tackle climate change, the Organization has established 2000 as its base year and is calculating its greenhouse gas emissions in order to track progress and identify priority areas for action. The IPU’s target is to reduce emissions to 90 per cent of the base-year levels. This target is consistent with the pledge made by Switzerland, the host country, under the Kyoto Protocol.

The direct emissions of the IPU were 43 tonnes of CO₂ in the base year. From 2000 to 2005, IPU direct emissions increased by 75 per cent to 75 tonnes as a result of the move to larger office premises. Over the same period, the IPU’s indirect emissions from official travel, paper consumption and commuting decreased by 20 per cent from 1,231 tonnes to 985 tonnes due to the decision to hold one Assembly each year in Geneva. However, since 2005, official travel outside of Assemblies has increased steadily, wiping out earlier gains. Nevertheless, the IPU stands out as the only international organization that is offsetting all of its CO₂ emissions.

In 2008, the IPU switched from petrol to diesel to reduce emissions from local transportation. The Organization obtains its electricity entirely from hydraulic sources on offer by the local utility company. The Headquarters has a state-of-the-art heating system and controls, thus limiting the options for further reducing energy consumption. However, the IPU continues to seek and employ environmentally sustainable sources for all required office materials and supplies, systematically uses its printers/photocopiers to make double-sided printouts, recycles paper and, wherever possible, limits the amount of documents that are printed.

This budget includes a provision of CHF 32,000 to offset carbon emissions from regular activities in 2014. The idea of offsetting greenhouse gas emissions by paying for projects that reduce the gases elsewhere was adopted in Kyoto, Japan, in 1997.

In 2014, the Governing Council is requested to appropriate funds from the reserve for offsetting carbon emissions to pay for any IPU climate change activities to be undertaken should a political decision be made to pursue such activities.
Gender analysis

Over the past decade, the IPU has kept a clear focus on gender-specific programming, i.e. work to promote and support the participation of women in politics. This work represents the IPU’s Strategic Objective 2, with gender-specific programming receiving 6 per cent of the appropriations from the regular budget. In nominal terms, the expenditures have more than doubled from CHF 382,000 in 2001 to CHF 777,300 in 2013.

In recent years, there has been a significant commitment of voluntary funding to gender-based activities. Following the 2008 financial crisis and the more conservative approach to budgeting for voluntary funds, the expectation for external funding has been lowered to CHF 230,600 in 2014. There are, however, some major donors whose funding plans will not be confirmed until the end of 2013. Successful resource mobilization from these sources would enable more activities to be implemented within the Gender Partnership Programme in 2014.

Together, the estimates of core resources and voluntary funding for gender-based activities amount to CHF 1 million, which is 8 per cent of the total budget.

Income

Assessed Contributions

Most of the IPU’s operating revenue comes from Members’ assessed contributions. Over the decade leading up to 2011, contributions increased at an average of 3 per cent per year to meet the cost of inflation. 2012 saw a dramatic cut in IPU contributions following the budget restrictions faced internally by many Members. In the 2014 budget, Members’ assessed contributions remain frozen at the same level as 2013, increasing only with the eventual addition of new Members. Total assessed contributions for 2014 are budgeted at CHF 10,950,800.

In 2011, the Governing Council decided to update the IPU scale of assessment automatically in line with changes to the UN scale. The IPU contributions scale presented with this budget has therefore been adjusted in line with the latest UN scale for 2013-2015.

2 Average increase in Members’ contributions. The total reflects changes to the membership base.
Staff Assessment

As international civil servants, IPU staff members pay a staff assessment or internal income tax to the IPU. The rate of staff assessment is established by the International Civil Service Commission. This system of internal taxation will generate gross returns of CHF 1,037,000 in 2014 to the benefit of all Member Parliaments. However, to avoid double taxation, the Organization is obliged to refund the portion of the staff assessment corresponding to the national income tax imposed on staff members living in France. Such refunds are budgeted at CHF 50,000 for 2014. The Secretariat remains in negotiations with the French Government in a bid to obtain an exemption from this obligation.

Other Revenues

Incidental revenues from administration fees, room rentals, book sales, etc. are expected to amount to CHF 16,000 in 2014. Interest and investment revenues are projected at CHF 100,000, in line with recent performance in a slightly improving investment climate.

Voluntary Contributions

2014 is likely to be a transitional year in terms of mobilizing voluntary funding from external donors. The 2011-2014 partnership agreement worth SEK 15 million (CHF 2 million) with Sida concludes in June 2014. A total commitment of CHF 430,000 is projected to remain for use against the 2014 budget. Discussions will begin with Sida in late 2013 with a view to securing a further funding arrangement after conclusion of the current one. Negotiations also continue with other partners for renewal of funding while the IPU continues to solicit new donors. The recently concluded Irish Aid grant of € 300,000 for the Gender Partnership Programme is being evaluated and consultations are under way for a renewed partnership agreement. USAID has provided total grant funding of US$ 350,000 to the end of 2013 and may extend further funding into 2014.

In addition, the IPU receives a projected CHF 170,000 annually from UNDP and the European Commission for capacity-building. The development programme mobilized and spent CHF 452,000 in 2012 from a range of partners, including the Norwegian Agency for Development Cooperation (Norad), the Partnership for Maternal, Newborn and Child Health (PMNCH), the World Health Organization (WHO) and World Vision for maternal, newborn and child health activities. Several other donors have been approached to provide support for the least developed countries initiative and gender and development activities. As a result, the 2014 income budget includes an amount of CHF 1,522,600 in voluntary contributions.

Expenditures

Detailed descriptions of the outputs that are needed to achieve the objectives of the Strategy for 2012-2017 can be found in the Annex. A summary of the main issues and challenges under each Strategic Objective, and the resources necessary to achieve them, are described below.
Objective 1 – Better functioning parliaments

To strengthen parliaments so that they can contribute to democracy and meet the aspirations of citizens.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

Recent years have witnessed an exceptional increase in the demand for IPU capacity-building assistance with an unprecedented number of activities being conducted. This trend is expected to continue in 2014, as parliaments seek help in facing the many challenges posed by recent upheavals globally and nationally. The IPU will continue its support to parliaments in these and other countries. It will develop and promote standards and guidelines for good parliamentary practice and better integrate its work on research, standard-setting and technical assistance through enhanced teamwork and planning within the IPU Secretariat, and in close collaboration with Member Parliaments. All of these activities are in line with the IPU Strategy for 2012-2017.

Priority will be given to the following areas:

• Providing support to parliaments wishing to carry out self-assessments using the IPU’s self-assessment toolkit for parliaments and make use of the indicators being developed by the IPU.

• Building parliamentary capacity by providing advisory services and technical assistance to strengthen democracy through parliaments with a special focus on parliaments in countries emerging from conflict or in transition.

• Continuing work begun in 2012 to improve the delivery and impact of technical assistance in line with the 2011 technical assistance review, and with an increased focus on developing parliamentary performance indicators. An additional focus will be placed on effectively using resources through greater prioritization of capacity-building support.

• Re-launching the PARLINE database as part of the new IPU website, with an increased focus on providing comparable data on parliamentary powers, structures and working methods.

• Mobilizing an ever greater number of parliaments around the International Day of Democracy, 15 September, in order to strengthen dialogue between parliaments and citizens.

• Maintaining IPU participation in the international democracy debate, providing parliamentary input to the major international democracy movements and encouraging rapprochement between them.

• Organizing parliamentary input to the 2014 World Conference on Indigenous Peoples.

Funding proposals have been developed for work on the representation of minorities and indigenous peoples and a follow-up edition of the Global Parliamentary Report following the successful launch of the first Report in 2012. The continuation of these activities is contingent on securing the necessary resources from voluntary contributions.

The IPU will continue to develop strong and healthy partnerships that provide access to expertise, give visibility to its work, and increase the scope and volume of its activities. It will strengthen its partnership with parliaments, which are its primary target audience and source of information. The Organization will also strengthen existing partnerships with institutions and organizations that work to enhance parliamentary development and establish new or build stronger partnerships with parliamentary organizations and universities. The capacity-building programme will also seek to enhance coordination and cooperation among parliamentary development practitioners at the national level.

Gender Mainstreaming

The IPU seeks to mainstream gender in all activities to strengthen democracy through parliaments. The Resource Centre collects data on the number of women parliamentarians and records this data in the PARLINE database. It provides evidence underpinning advocacy for the enhanced participation of women in political life. In technical assistance projects, prominence is given to raising awareness of the cross-cutting issue of gender and ensuring the involvement of women in decision-making, particularly in post-conflict countries. Parliaments are urged to ensure the full participation of women in project activities.

Objective 2 – Advancement of Gender Equality

To achieve a gender partnership in political life by facilitating women’s access to, and influence in, parliament and to enhance parliament’s capacity to embody and champion gender equality.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

While some progress has been achieved in terms of women’s political participation, numbers remain far from parity and progress is too slow. Nevertheless, gender equality issues have gained in visibility and are more prominent on the political agendas of parliaments and their members, both men and women. Requests for assistance on gender-related issues have risen, whether related to addressing discrimination in the law, combating violence against women or generally enhancing parliaments’ institutional capacity as a whole to promote gender equality and mainstreaming.

The IPU’s programme of work for 2014 will focus on the following:

The IPU has conducted research on women in politics, which has gained international recognition and contributed to debates and the development of strategies in support of women. Results of this work are also central to the IPU’s technical assistance work as it provides examples of lessons learned, best practices and concrete strategies for progress. In 2014, the IPU will continue to provide comparative information on women’s participation in politics, including by analysing progress and setbacks of women in parliaments and good practices to support women in politics.

At its 127th Assembly, the IPU adopted a Plan of Action for Gender-sensitive Parliaments based on the outcomes of an innovative research project (Gender-sensitive Parliaments: A Global Review of Good Practice), which was presented in 2011 (see: http://www.ipu.org/pdf/publications/gsp11-e.pdf). In 2014, the IPU will build on the Plan of Action and support parliaments in conducting self-assessments of their level of gender sensitivity. As a follow-up to these assessments, the IPU will support parliaments in enhancing their functioning and mainstreaming gender in their structures, processes, budgets, planning and work.

In 2014, the IPU will scale up its work in support of women at the national and regional levels. It will support women parliamentarians by organizing induction seminars and workshops on specific gender issues, providing expertise on gender matters and promoting the exchange of experience with other parliaments. Special focus will be placed on supporting women’s caucuses.
Assisting parliaments in promoting respect for women’s rights will remain a priority for the IPU in 2014. Efforts will centre on the Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW). The IPU will continue to provide support through training for parliamentarians and parliamentary staff on implementing CEDAW, identifying discriminatory provisions and reforming the legal framework. A Meeting of Women Speakers of Parliament will also be held to discuss a women’s rights issue.

In 2014, the IPU will continue to assist parliaments in different regions to strengthen their capacity to build a strong and effective legal framework to prevent and address all forms of violence against women. Activities will include training seminars, legislative drafting assistance and public consultations, as well as support for parliamentary oversight and monitoring mechanisms. This year’s annual parliamentary meeting at the session of the Commission on the Status of Women focused on violence against women, providing an opportunity to highlight the role of parliaments in this global effort.

Gender Mainstreaming

All of the activities in this section aim to enhance women’s participation in political processes and mainstream gender within parliaments and the IPU. Particular attention will be paid to encouraging men to participate in the activities and ensuring that gender issues are addressed by representatives of both sexes. The Programme provides support and input, whenever possible, to the work of other programmes and divisions, thereby contributing to gender mainstreaming efforts within the IPU.

Objective 3 – Greater respect for human rights

To defend the human rights of parliamentarians and enhance the contribution of parliaments to the promotion and protection of human rights.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

Parliamentarians who face harassment in the exercise of their mandate continue to turn to the Committee on the Human Rights of Parliamentarians for protection and redress. Since 2012, the Committee has adopted a more personalized and proactive approach to its work, in particular by conducting more on-site missions. It has also spoken out more frequently in public to denounce allegations of human rights abuses affecting parliamentarians.
As a result, its work has gained greater recognition and visibility. In 2014, the Committee will continue these efforts, while exploring additional avenues for stronger cooperation with the IPU membership at large to help bring about satisfactory settlements in the cases it examines.

Although the tide is slowly turning, a large number of parliaments and their members are still not fully aware of their important responsibilities in the field of human rights and are all too often unaware of the international obligations to which their States have subscribed as parties to international or regional human rights treaties. In 2013, the IPU spearheaded a landmark event at the United Nations which concluded that parliaments and UN human rights monitoring mechanisms stand much to gain from working closer together. In 2014, the IPU will follow up on the conclusions of that event by promoting stronger involvement of parliaments in the work of those mechanisms and the adoption of concrete steps by the United Nations to engage with parliaments.

The IPU Strategy for 2012-2017 underscores the importance of increased action by the IPU in support of children’s rights. In 2014, the Organization will continue to mobilize parliaments around the protection and well-being of children. In so doing, it will place special emphasis on the implementation of key rights enshrined in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child. The IPU will rely on its fruitful partnership with UNICEF for the effective implementation of this work.

Through the work of its Committee to Promote Respect for International Humanitarian Law (IHL), the IPU will continue to support parliaments’ efforts aimed at the dissemination, teaching, wider appreciation and enforcement of IHL and refugee protection, including statelessness and internal displacement. Special focus will be placed on providing support to crisis situations, such as the Syrian refugee crisis.

Gender Mainstreaming

Gender is a cross-cutting issue and policies and activities implemented within the Programme will be gender-sensitive and serve to promote gender equality, including by ensuring the equal participation and involvement of men and women. Gender is also a human rights issue as it relates to women’s political rights. The IPU’s Human Rights and Gender Partnership Programmes are therefore mutually reinforcing.

STRATEGIC DIRECTION 2 - MORE INTERNATIONAL INVOLVEMENT OF PARLIAMENTS

Objective 4 – Develop a parliamentary dimension to the work of the United Nations and other multilateral institutions

To enhance the strategic partnership between the IPU and the United Nations system and strengthen the parliamentary voice in international affairs. To further develop dialogue and cooperation with other multilateral institutions, in particular the World Trade Organization (WTO).

Issues and Challenges in 2014

One of the main challenges the IPU continues to face is being able to effectively deliver on its strategic mandate to serve as the primary vehicle for parliamentary cooperation with the United Nations. Another challenge is to ensure that national parliaments capitalize on IPU engagement with the United Nations to become better informed of UN processes, influence national decision-making, and facilitate country-level implementation of international commitments.

Within a zero-growth budget, the IPU will endeavour to build on the gains of the previous years and further enhance the parliamentary dimension to international cooperation. Having already developed a number of avenues of interaction with the United Nations, work next year will focus on deepening interaction with respect to key policy areas.

First and foremost among these will be the negotiation of new Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The IPU will continue its work to ensure that the SDGs have a strong governance component both as a goal and as a cross-cutting issue. Possible avenues of cooperation will be explored with the new High-Level Political Forum on Sustainable Development, building on the successful experience of the ECOSOC Development Cooperation Forum (DCF).

The IPU will continue to engage with the UN General Assembly, as the main political deliberative body of the United Nations. A new resolution on interaction between the United Nations, national parliaments and the IPU will be negotiated at the General Assembly in the first part of 2014, seeking to further consolidate the parliamentary dimension to the work of the United Nations.

Based on the outcome of the 2012 Parliamentary Hearing at the United Nations on the role of parliaments in conflict prevention, as well as the findings of the 2013 field mission conducted by the Advisory Group of the IPU Committee on United Nations Affairs, the IPU will work to enhance cooperation with the United Nations in the areas of peacebuilding and national reconciliation, both at the national level and in terms of the work of the UN Peacebuilding Commission.

In response to expressions of interest from the UN Security Council, special efforts will also be made to enhance parliamentary support for the decisions of the Security Council, in particular in the areas of counter-terrorism and non-proliferation of weapons of mass destruction. The IPU will also seek to influence the outcome of the 2014 World Conference on Indigenous Peoples, on the basis of the Chiapas Declaration of November 2010 as well as IPU’s overall engagement on issues of political representation.

Priority in 2014 will be given to the following areas:

- Capitalizing on the unique expertise of the IPU and its Member Parliaments in developing better partnerships with the United Nations in efforts to strengthen parliamentary institutions, particularly in countries emerging from conflict and/or in transition to democracy.
- Participating in relevant policy- and decision-making debates at the United Nations, and further enhancing the parliamentary dimension of the recently established UN bodies, in particular the Human Rights Council, the DCF, the UN Peacebuilding Commission and UN Women.
• Consolidating the role of the IPU Committee on United Nations Affairs and its Advisory Group in reviewing implementation of international commitments, holding hearings with senior UN officials, conducting missions to examine UN field operations and developing parliamentary input to global processes and negotiations.

• Articulating a strong parliamentary contribution to the World Conference on Indigenous Peoples (September 2014) on the basis of the recommendation of the UN Permanent Forum on Indigenous Issues.

• Building support for the adoption of a robust and forward-looking new resolution of the UN General Assembly in 2014 on interaction between the United Nations, national parliaments and the IPU.

• Convening regular exchanges between the UN System Chief Executives Board for Coordination (CEB) and the senior leadership of the IPU, and drafting a new and updated cooperation agreement between the two organizations.

• Strengthening the capacity of parliaments to address international trade issues at home and oversee multilateral trade negotiations, in particular through the Parliamentary Conference on the WTO (annual plenary meeting held at WTO Headquarters in Geneva and two sessions of the Conference Steering Committee, held in Geneva and Brussels respectively).

Gender Mainstreaming

The IPU will continue to work with the main UN bodies, in particular UN Women, to promote gender equality and the political empowerment of women. The IPU Office in New York will seek to achieve a better gender balance in the distribution of roles during the meetings it organizes at the United Nations. It will also seek to give greater visibility to the work of the IPU and its Member Parliaments on gender mainstreaming, in both UN debates and reports.

Objective 5 – Increased parliamentary support for international development goals

To assist parliaments in ensuring national ownership of development policies and programmes in a few targeted areas.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

The IPU will continue to support the achievement of the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) by 2015 and provide a parliamentary input to the consideration of a new set of universal goals to succeed the current development framework. At the national and regional levels, the IPU will assist parliaments in ensuring national ownership and oversight of development-related policies and programmes. At the global level, the IPU will seek to draw lessons from the MDG experience for the post-2015 development framework.

Priority will be given to the following areas:

- Continuing to promote messages agreed by the global parliamentary community and press for the inclusion of democratic governance as a future development goal and underlying value for other goals.
- Scaling up the involvement of parliaments in the MDGs so as to ensure legislation on appropriate policies, appropriation of adequate resources and effective oversight of programme implementation to enable countries to achieve the goals by 2015.
- Providing a forum for parliamentarians to play a leading role in the drive towards 2015 and to have a strong and organized voice at the MDG Review Summit in September 2013, when leaders will meet in New York for the last time to take stock and examine the post-2015 framework.
- Offering policy expertise and technical support aimed at positioning parliaments to promote and ensure accountability for the health of women and children, primarily through the implementation of the IPU resolution on women’s and children’s health. The IPU will also focus on bringing a parliamentary perspective to important national, regional and global processes relating to women’s and children’s health.
- Strengthening the role of parliaments in the oversight of development processes and country-led frameworks to monitor progress and promote mutual accountability in aid and development cooperation. The IPU will represent the global parliamentary community in the Global Partnership for Effective Development Co-operation and the DCF.
- Providing members of parliament with access to relevant policy expertise and skills to properly exercise their duties of law-making, oversight, leadership and advocacy in the HIV/AIDS context. Special attention will be paid to the impact of punitive and discriminatory laws on the AIDS response and protection of the rights of populations most affected by the epidemic. These issues will be given prominence through parliamentary activities at the XX International AIDS Conference.

Gender Mainstreaming

The IPU focuses on gender equality and women’s empowerment not only as human rights, but also because they are a pathway to achieving the MDGs and sustainable development in general. Several of the activities are specifically geared towards ensuring access to health for women and gender equality in development.

Objective 6 – Improved parliamentary contribution to peace-building and conflict prevention

To strengthen parliament’s contribution to peace-building by helping to establish a framework that is conducive to dialogue and inclusiveness in decision-making bodies and promoting parliamentary involvement in the national reconciliation agenda.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

Parliaments in countries emerging from conflict or in transition to democracy often face challenges in building consensus. Yet it is precisely in these circumstances that parliaments are called upon to assume a prominent role as a forum for promoting the national reconciliation agenda. These parliaments are in need of assistance to devise new decision-making frameworks that will need to be as inclusive as possible, making sure that the opposition and majority are cooperating in order for the country to recover. The IPU provides support to such parliaments, particularly in countries receiving assistance in the context of the UN Peacebuilding Commission.

The highly volatile political environment in which these activities take place means that unpredictable events such as early elections or changes to the leadership and administration of parliaments pose significant challenges, as do divergent political agendas in parliament.

The IPU will give priority to the following areas:

- Assisting parliaments in establishing inclusive mechanisms for decision-making in order to ensure that all members participate in devising policies that serve the common good.
- Ensuring implementation, at the national level, of the recommendations of the regional Conference on “The role of parliaments in conflict prevention and management in West-Africa”.
- Promoting dialogue between parties through the Committee on Middle East Questions and the Group of Facilitators for Cyprus.

Gender Mainstreaming

Prominence is given to raising awareness of the cross-cutting issue of gender and ensuring the involvement of women in decision-making, particularly in post-conflict countries. Parliaments are urged to ensure the full participation of women in project activities and to send gender-balanced delegations to seminars. The IPU will focus on the effects of conflict on women and the role of women in peace-building and reconciliation processes.

STRATEGIC DIRECTION 3 - THE IPU AS A MORE EFFECTIVE INSTRUMENT OF PARLIAMENTARY COOPERATION

Objective 7 – Achievement of universal membership and enhanced Member relations

To make the IPU more relevant to its Members and advance towards universal membership. To enhance engagement by parliaments and parliamentarians in IPU meetings and other activities, paying special attention to political and gender balance and youth participation. To make the annual Assemblies more effective and facilitate greater coherence in parliamentary cooperation.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

The IPU, through its unique convening power, provides a unique platform for Member Parliaments to come together, exchange perspectives and address the major global issues of our time through the Assemblies and other events. Delegations are usually high-level and multi-party, covering the broad spectrum of political factions represented in parliaments. IPU Assemblies also offer an invaluable opportunity for bilateral meetings and parliamentary diplomacy.

More relevant and effective Assemblies require a topical agenda, comprehensive and timely documentation, a format which is conducive to dialogue and interaction, as well as the participation of legislators who regularly deal with the issues under consideration. This continues to be an important challenge for the IPU, which it is seeking to address through consultation and reform. As part of this process, the Bureaux of the Standing Committees are called upon to play a significant role. Efforts will also be made to enhance communication and engagement between the IPU’s statutory bodies and the geopolitical groups.

2014 will mark the beginning of a new format for IPU Assemblies, as well as an expanded mandate for the IPU Standing Committees: to discuss topical issues and adopt relevant resolutions; undertake operational activities; commission reports; and monitor follow-up and implementation of previous resolutions. The IPU Committee on the Human Rights of Parliamentarians will become a statutory body of the IPU, as will the newly-established Forum of Young Parliamentarians. Both bodies will equip themselves with specific Rules, to be adopted by the Governing Council in the course of next year.

A general debate will be held at both Assemblies of the year so as to better respond to expectations from Members and to major developments in the international arena. The Meeting of Women Parliamentarians will also convene at each Assembly so as to ensure gender mainstreaming in all IPU decisions and outcomes.

In 2014, priority will be given to the following areas:

- Enhancing dialogue and cooperation (including through joint activities) with non-member parliaments in the Pacific and Oceania region and in the Caribbean, as well as with the US Congress, in view of future IPU membership.
- Improving the working modalities of the IPU, in particular the Standing Committees and their Bureaux, thus enhancing the participation of parliaments and parliamentarians in IPU Assemblies.
- Modernizing the format of the annual IPU Assemblies, promoting environment-friendly solutions and seeking to diversify the type of activities organized for Members during Assemblies.
- Developing guidelines on gender and political balance in parliamentary delegations and encouraging greater participation by young MPs in all IPU activities.
- Supporting a more active role for the geopolitical groups and political party organizations during the annual IPU Assemblies.
- Working with Members to ensure better follow-up and implementation of IPU decisions and recommendations, and enhancing the statutory reporting process by Members.
- Developing closer ties and working relationships with regional and other parliamentary organizations with a view to building synergies and strengthening efforts in areas of mutual interest.
Gender Mainstreaming

The Meeting of Women Parliamentarians, the Coordinating Committee of Women Parliamentarians and the Gender Partnership Group work to ensure that women delegates are involved at all levels of the Assembly’s work, and that Members continue to strive for the target of 30 per cent women delegates. To this end, work on drafting and implementing a Plan of Action for Gender-sensitive Parliaments, as well as a set of guidelines on gender balance in parliamentary delegations, is being pursued.

Objective 8 – Enhanced IPU visibility

To raise awareness and knowledge of the work and mandate of the IPU and its membership among various audiences with a view to establishing the Organization in the long term as the reference on parliaments and democracy in the world.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

The IPU’s new communication strategy will work on addressing fundamental issues and challenges to gaining visibility for the Organization and cementing its position as a unique institution with unmatched expertise on democracy and parliaments. The Division will focus on the building blocks needed to achieve the above-mentioned long-term goal. These include tools and mechanisms to inform multiple stakeholders and audiences in a more dynamic manner of the work of the IPU and its membership. This is aimed at enhancing the level of interest in and awareness of the Organization’s work and mandate at a time when competition for visibility is at its highest. The Communications Division will pursue efforts to raise awareness of the IPU in the regions where the Organization is largely absent and thus in other languages. All of this will be underpinned by a new visual identity for the IPU, which will have been created in 2013 and which will need to be promoted through IPU communication tools and events.

The Communications Division will also develop and enhance outreach to key audiences to support fundraising efforts for the IPU’s work when requests for assistance are increasing and the economic climate is worsening. Efforts to strengthen effective communication with national parliaments will continue in a bid to bolster Members’ ownership of the IPU, while work will be carried out to communicate more interactively with the IPU membership in order to develop knowledge, expertise and best practices in parliaments and democracy. The IPU will continue to build on the work and achievements of 2012, when a new communications strategy began to be implemented. The building and completion of the new website and other online tools will be the main preoccupation of the Communications Division, and will have a knock-on effect on other communications areas and efforts due to limited human resourcing.

Other key areas of work will be the promotion and implementation of a new visual identity for IPU and continued efforts to reach out more to target audiences in Spanish- and Arab-speaking regions.

Priority will be given to the following:

- Completing the creation of a new, modern website better able to meet user needs in English and French.
- Centralizing and streamlining the management of electronic and online data in order to both enhance communications with IPU membership and targeted audiences.
- Enhancing online and interactive channels of communication with IPU Members.
- Gathering strong editorial and audio-visual material content for IPU communication outlets and effectively disseminating them.
- Producing strategic and dynamic information products on the IPU and parliamentary issues that support and enhance efforts to position the Organization and its work and supporting IPU fundraising efforts.
- Increasing outreach to media and other audiences by identifying and targeting media.
- Implementing a new and coherent visual identity for IPU.

Gender Mainstreaming

The Communications Division will seek to ensure that a gender perspective is incorporated into all its policies, programmes and activities and that communications material produced by the IPU is gender-sensitive both in form and content. It will continue to vigorously advocate for gender issues that are central to the IPU’s work.

Objective 9 – Improved operational management, governance and internal oversight

Overall Objective

To provide leadership and direction to the Organization and its Secretariat. To provide better services to the Members and mainstream gender throughout the Organization. To modernize key business practices that impact on cost effectiveness, efficiency and accountability. To upgrade IPU management systems and procedures, in particular in the area of human resources, financial systems and communications. Strengthen governance and oversight.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

The overall objective of the Strategy for 2012-2017 is to help Members build an IPU that is universal, dynamic, effective and able to advance democratic culture, values and institutions through cooperation among parliaments.

Priority will be given to the following areas:
- Ensuring a smooth transition and hand-over to the next Secretary General, who will take up the post on 2 July 2014.
- Strengthening internal governance and oversight, servicing the Sub-Committee on Finance and developing and implementing a resource-mobilization policy for the Organization.
- Upgrading IPU management systems and procedures and implementing a results-based management system while continuing to integrate modern ICT and an updated performance evaluation system throughout the Organization.
- Implementing the IPU’s gender mainstreaming policy throughout the Organization. This involves training staff and ensuring that a gender perspective and the goal of equality are central to all activities.

Gender Mainstreaming

The Executive Office will direct and oversee the implementation of a gender-mainstreaming policy for the Organization. Mainstreaming involves ensuring that a gender perspective and the goal of gender equality are central to all activities - policy development, research, advocacy, dialogue, legislation, resource allocation, and planning, implementation and monitoring of programmes and projects.

SUPPORT SERVICES

Overall Objective

To manage the material, financial and human resources of the IPU efficiently, equitably and cost effectively, to give administrative policy guidance to the Secretariat and to safeguard the assets of the Organization.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

The Support Services Division made further improvements to its processes and systems both in the area of human resources and financial management in 2013.

Priority will be given to the following areas in 2014:

- Ensuring full compliance with the comprehensive staff evaluation system, which includes a review of training needs through the personal development plans.
- Improving financial reporting tools to support the Secretariat in implementing its results-based management, including remote access for reports and linking the New York Office to the IPU financial systems.
- Ensuring full compliance with IPSAS and reflecting this compliance in restructured financial statements and annual reporting.

The Division will continue to improve processes and control systems and to service the Executive Committee’s Sub-Committee on Finance.

Gender Mainstreaming

The budget process requires all managers to identify the gender issues relevant to their division or programme in order to mainstream gender.

The specific gender issues identified within the Support Services Division relate to recruitment and training. As the result of a proactive policy of employment equity, women continue to make up more than half of the professional service in the Secretariat, with equitable representation at all grade levels. The budget includes information on the composition of the Secretariat on page 28.

Human resource policies are regularly reviewed to ensure they do not disadvantage women.

PROVISIONS AND GRANTS

Overall Objective

To provide adequate funding for present and future liabilities in accordance with prudent financial management practice and to fund a grant to the Association of Secretaries General of Parliaments (ASGP) to ensure its functioning.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

Financial provisions and grant payments need to be made in appropriate amounts and in accordance with clear and approved policies. Policy bases need to be developed for the five financial provisions and grants included in the budget.

The IPU sets aside funds to be used to offset CO₂ emissions from its activities, primarily travel. The amount of the contribution is currently determined by an online calculator, which estimates the investment that is required to compensate emissions from travel reported by the Secretariat.

A reserve has been established for maintenance work on IPU Headquarters – The House of Parliaments. At the beginning of 2014, this reserve is projected to hold a balance of CHF 318,000.

The reserve for doubtful accounts is a provision that comes into effect in the event that certain Members are suspended and their contributions, which have already been recognized as revenue, are never received. Based on historical payment performance, the amount of the provision has been set at just under 1 per cent of assessed contributions.

The IPU provides an annual grant to the ASGP in an amount that is determined each year. This is provided at a level that is sufficient to meet expenses not funded from other sources. The grant is reduced in 2014 thanks to efficiencies made in the ASGP’s production of publications. As a one-off measure, it will also be supplemented by the balance of funds remaining within the Global Parliamentary Foundation for Democracy, which will be dissolved in 2014.

The IPU is contractually bound to guarantee the payment of the pensions of 11 former employees of the Secretariat. The closed pension fund has a reserve of CHF 9.1 million, which is invested in a mixed portfolio of bonds and equities.

Gender Mainstreaming

The budget allocations under this heading have no particular impact on men or women. As a legacy of the former employee profile of the IPU, the pension payments from the legacy pension fund are paid evenly to women and men. Efforts must be made to ensure that the ASGP has a gender-sensitive programme and working methods.

CAPITAL EXPENDITURES

Overall Objective

To make prudent capital expenditures that will enhance asset values or improve productivity or quality of work while ensuring that future capital charges are sustainable.

Issues and Challenges in 2014

The major factor affecting capital expenditure remains the comprehensive redevelopment of the IPU website. These costs will be capitalized and depreciated over four years. After review, research and preparation in 2013, the development period is anticipated to run from the moment the website developer is recruited until the new site becomes operational, in keeping with IPU management expectations. The development phase is anticipated to be largely completed by mid-2014.

Apart from the website, no major capital expenditures are foreseen in the medium term. Nevertheless, the Executive Committee and Governing Council need to pay attention to the capital budget and, in particular, to the future projections for capital expenditures, taking into account changes in technology and economics and the sustainability of capital charges.

A policy is required to define the use of the replacement reserve for major renovations to the IPU Headquarters building.

Gender Mainstreaming

The gender effects of the proposed capital expenditures are not quantifiable.

Grades are established in accordance with the United Nations common system of job classification. As a result of the restructuring in 2005, a few positions are occupied by incumbents at a higher grade than their position is classified although this number is now decreasing through attrition and career development. About two thirds of the Secretariat staff are women, who have achieved employment equity at all grades.

Annual adjustments to salaries are determined by the International Civil Service Commission. The budget for Secretariat staff salaries in 2014 from regular sources is CHF 5,989,400. A further appropriation of CHF 207,300 is foreseen for salaries for project personnel paid from other sources.

Benefits such as pensions, dependency allowances and child education allowances are provided to staff in accordance with the UN common system. Some other benefits, such as health and accident insurance, are defined internally by the IPU. The budget for staff benefits and overheads from regular sources will increase by CHF 12,600 compared with 2013 to CHF 2,015,400, due to personnel changes involving different benefit entitlements. In addition, the staff benefits charged to voluntary-funded project budgets will be CHF 66,900.
