

بِسْمِ اللَّهِ الرَّحْمَنِ الرَّحِيمِ

Madam Chairperson, Honorable Colleagues,

I would like to express my gratitude to the parliament of Serbia for their hospitality.

Dear Colleagues,

The world is suffering from disregard for the rules and norms of international law.

Today among the founders of the recognized institutions of international order the United States believes that they can achieve their interests by disregarding and violating the basic principles of international law and human rights, in order to provide their security at the expense of other's insecurity.

Use of the illegal instruments of economic sanctions or in fact economic terrorism by the US as a means of achieving their goals has raised serious concerns about abuse of the human rights.

The damaging effects of these sanctions on the living conditions of ordinary citizens of affected countries such as Iran include violation of fundamental human rights such as the right to access adequate food, access to essential medicine, the right to health services and so on.

It is deeply regrettable that legal, political and international institutions have failed to protect trust into institutions of the international order, leading to the rights of nations to be victimized.

Which is a clear indication of a serious inefficiency in international law and international institutions that requires revision and reform.

Dear Colleagues

Lastly I believe that the common challenges passed by noncompliance with international law and human rights are at the same time a matter to collaborate for cooperation.

So I wish to call on my young parliamentarians of all parliaments, we should demand Peace based on the grounds of justice and dialogue among us and to exclude those who fantasize about an endless war and contention of civilizations.
